COLLEGE REPORT May 1973/Volume 26, Number 5

HOMECOMING OCTOBER 20, 1973

PARENTS' WEEKEND NOVEMBER 3, 1973

M. L. RUSSELL NAMED OUTSTANDING ALUMNUS

Mary Landon Russell '33, an associate professor of music at Lycoming since 1936, was named Outstanding Alumnus at the annual alumni banquet on May 5th. Mrs. Russell came to Lycoming after receiving a bachelor of music from Susquehanna University that year. She later attended Julliard and Eastman schools of music and earned the master of arts in music from The Pennsylvania State University.

Mary's masters thesis, "A History of the Music of Williamsport", was recognized for its value in preserving the names and accomplishments of the early city music pioneers. This historical contribution brought her the "Mayor's Citation".

Mrs. Russell helped organize the Williamsport Civic Chorus and was its accompanist for many years. She also was instrumental in founding the Williamsport Music Club which she served as president.

Active in church affairs, Mary has served as music committee chairman, Sunday School teacher, and is currently an elder.

MARY L. RUSSELL '33 admires the chair presented to her as the 1973 Outstanding Alumnus with Jack Eidam '66 (left) and George Nichols '59, incoming alumni association president.

She is a member of numerous professional and music organizations and appears in Outstanding Educators of America.

The award citation reads in part, "Beyond all your professional appearances, and they cannot be minimized as they were always skillfully executed, you have won the love and the gratitude of your pupils, your colleagues, and your many friends with the warmth of your smile, your naive sense of humor, and your gracious, willing spirit."

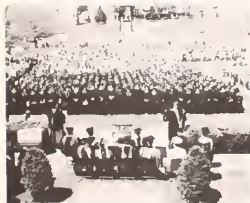

KRESGE GIFT FOR SCIENCE RENOVATIONS

A grant of $25,000 from The Kresge Foundation for renovations to the Science Building was announced April 26th at the Board of Trustees annual meeting. President Hutson said the Kresge grant is specifically designated for renovations to the Science Building and will be used to supplement funding for a proposed improvement project expected to cost approximately $90,000. Details of the project are being finalized, and work is tentatively expected to begin this summer. The anticipated completion date is September, 1974.

SIX COLLEGES STUDY WAYS TO COOPERATE

Representatives from six area colleges and universities were guests of Lycoming College May 16th at a meeting to explore possible opportunities for cooperative programs in adult education for residents of Central and North-Central Pennsylvania. Attending the informal conversations on continuing education, the second in a series of exploratory sessions planned for the coming months, were Dr. William Beisel - Mansfield State College, Philip C. Bower - Pennsylvania State University, John Moore - Susquehanna University, Dr. William Homiak - Williamsport Area Community College, Dr. Marcus Konick - Lock Haven State College, Dr. Melvyn L. Woodward - Bucknell University, and Dr. James R. Jose - Lycoming.

Mansfield will host the next session to be held the first week in August. Representatives attending the session decided on at least five specific areas for discussion in the upcoming meetings: institutional commitments to cooperate in adult education, possible coordination of summer sessions planned for adult education, publication of a joint schedule of classes in adult education, cooperative promotion of adult educational opportunities existing for area residents including the names of people to contact at the individual institutions and the registration dates, and the feasibility of homogenizing academic policies for recommendations to academic deans of the cooperating institutions.

THE ONE HUNDRED TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT of Lycoming College was held on the Flag Court Sunday, May 6 at 2:00 p.m. Bachelor of Arts degrees were conferred on 316 seniors.

TOP HONORS Summa Cum Laude went to (L to R): Joseph T. Ross, III of Harrisburg - Valedictorian, Esther L. Williams of Bristol - Salutatorian, and Elizabeth A. Johnson of Bethel Park.

COMMISSIONS AS 2ND LIEUTENANTS in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserves were received by Susan A. Landhof (L) of Round Ridge, New York and Carolyn D. Hoyle of Washington, D.C.

TO THIS MOMENT EACH ONE ASPIRED - AND NOW THEY ARE ALUMNI!

NINE HONORED AT DINNER

Nine members of the faculty and staff, including two who retired at the end of the academic year, were honored April 14th at the third annual Faculty Recognition Dinner.

Retirees honored included Robert H. Ewing, professor of history, and Dr. Maurice A. Mook, professor of anthropology. Mr. Ewing has been a member of the faculty at Lycoming for twenty-six years, and Dr. Mook came to Lycoming in 1969 after retiring from the faculty at Penn State. Each was presented a gift and several colleagues summarized their contributions to the institution.

Kenneth E. Himes, treasurer of the college and a member of the board of directors, was cited by Dr. Hutson for twenty-five years of service.

Six faculty were recognized for receiving doctorates from these universities: William P. Brittain and Richard M. O'Brien, assistant professors of psychology, Texas Christian University and West Virginia University respectively; Miss Lydia A. Dufour, assistant professor of Spanish, Tulane University; William D.

ROBERT H. EWING, retiring professor of history, receives a book from Professor John F. Piper, Jr., containing the names of contributors to establish the Robert H. Ewing Lectures in the Humanities which will bring to Lycoming College and the Williamsport community persons of unusual distinction in the Humanities, with special attention to the fields of History and Religion. Professor Loring B. Priest and President Hutson behind him look on at the left while Professor James R. Sheffer stands behind the book.

KENNETH E. HIMES, long time treasurer and business manager, looks at his gift for twenty-five years of service as President Hutson emphasizes a point and Thelma Himes listens.

Ford, assistant professor of English, University of Iowa; Stephen R. Griffith, assistant professor of philosophy, University of Pittsburgh, and Robert H. Larson, assistant professor of history, University of Virginia.

CLASS OF 1928 - 45th Reunion (l to r) Katherine Forrest Mathers, (Mrs. Hunt), Robert M. Hunt.

MARY LANDON RUSSELL '33 is completely surprised when Jack Eidam '66, chairman of the Outstanding Alumni Award Committee who was swelling through the audience, announced her name as the 1973 Outstanding Alumna. Jean Heller '47 is at right.

ROBERT H. EWING (R), retiring professor, receives the Alumni Association Citation from Col. Marshall Sanders '36, alumni association vice president.

HONORS NIGHT

RICHARD B. HENNINGER, a South Williamsport Junior, receives the Tomahawk Award from David C. Busey, director of athletics, as the outstanding male athlete for the second consecutive year. Rich also won the Sol (Woody) Wolfe Award for the most improvement in intercollegiate competition during his first three years at Lycoming.

DOROTHY E. EVERHART, a York senior, receives the Chieftain Award from President Hutson. In the opinion of the faculty and students, she has contributed the most to Lycoming College through support of school activities, has exhibited outstanding constructive leadership qualities, "has worked efficiently and effectively with the members of the college community, has evidenced a good moral code, and has an academic rank in the upper half of the senior class."

MARY A. PERRY, a Pottstown, New Jersey Junior, holds the plaque for WAA Woman of the Year with Prof. Sally Vargo. In 1972, Mary shared the award with Elizabeth A. Johnson (see page 11) who won the 1973 Pocahontas Award as the outstanding female athlete.

DIANA M. BROUSE, a junior from Montgomery, receives the Faculty Wives Scholarship Award from Mrs. K. Bruce Sherbine, president of faculty wives.

ROBERT BURMAN, a political science major from Greenville, South Carolina, will be "one in a hundred" this summer when he visits the Chinese mainland. The Lycoming senior is one of only one hundred political science, history, and language students from throughout the United States to receive a visa to penetrate the Bamboo Curtain while attending a six-week seminar at the Modern Chinese University of Hong Kong. Though the itinerary is not completed, a visit to Canton, a major south coast port, will be included. Bob was chosen for the trip, which will begin in San Francisco June 27 and end there August 18, by the American Institute of Foreign Studies.

DAVID M. FARRELL AND MARLIN D. WHITAKER will spend the first semester of their senior year next fall at the Argonne National Laboratory where they have received appointments in the 1973 Undergraduate Honors Research Participation Program. Marlin, a physics major from Martinsburg, will be doing research in nuclear spectroscopy. David, a chemistry major from Bloomfield, Connecticut, will be working in the heavy element group. Both also will take formal courses and participate in a semioar. Program participants are chosen because of outstanding academic achievement. They receive a semester's credit in their major for successful completion of the research program.

GEORGE NELSON AND RICHARD ZUTTERLING, senior physics majors from Springfield and Bethel Park respectively, attended the joint spring meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Association of Physics Teachers and the Society for Physics Students held at Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster in April. George discussed research on molecular beams he did last fall while on an Undergraduate Research Participation fellowship at Argonne National Laboratories. Richard spoke on research on an electron gun that he did at Lycoming. Dr. Morton A. Fieneman, physics chairman, attended the meeting.

SIGMA PHI SIGMA formally installed the Lycoming College Chapter of the physics honor society and inducted fourteen charter members in ceremonies on April 16th which were part of a physics department open house. The day's program included the regular weekly colloquium where Richard L. Myers '68, a doctoral candidate at the University of Pittsburgh, discussed "Surface Ionization Analysis of Airborne Particles". At the evening installation dinner, Dr. Roland H. Good, physics department chairman at Penn State, spoke on "Physics as an Art Form".

The society, associated with the American Physical Society, is primarily organized to honor undergraduates who have good records in physics and overall studies. However, the membership is not restricted to undergraduates or physics majors. Professors and alumni are eligible, as are all students who have had four units of physics.

Faculty members inducted included Dr. Willy Smith, associate professor of physics; M. Raymond Jamison, assistant professor of physics, and Dr. John Radspsinner, professor of chemistry. Undergraduate charter members are George W. Nelson, Marlin D. Whitaker, Michael L. Howes, Edwin G. Dauber, and David R. Stover. Alumni charter members include Mr. Myers; graduate physics students: Gregory D. Harris '68 at Penn State, James E.

Chromer '72 at the University of Delaware, David E. Freund '72 at Purdue, and Charles A. Ginsburg '71 at the University of Rochester, and Paul R. Whitehouse '72 a student at Penn State's engineering school.

A LEGAL PROFESSIONS ADVISORY COMMITTEE has been established to develop individual academic programs for students and advise them regarding law school and opportunities in legal and para-legal fields. It will coordinate the activities of departments involved in pre-law programs. Chairman is Ernest D. Giglio, chairman and associate professor of political science; Thomas C. Devlin, career development center; Don M. Larrabee and Thomas C. Raup, attorneys, and Ferdinand D. Schoeman, assistant professor of philosophy. Pre-law students have elected Barry P. Dawson '74 of Beaver, Mike F. Steinbrum '75 of Levittown, Pa., and Keith R. Gibson '76 of Lewistown as a Student Adjunct Committee.

CLARENCE W. BURCH, assistant professor and chairman of physical education and varsity basketball coach, has also been appointed to the newly created position of associate director of athletics. Dutch, a native of Oil City, joined Lycoming in 1962, earned his bachelor of science and master of education from the University of Pittsburgh where he was basketball team captain one year and twice was Pitt's most valuable player. He was an assistant coach at Pitt while earning his masters there and also coach of his high school alma mater.

EDUARDO GUERRA, on sabbatical as chairman and professor of religion, has accepted an invitation of the Hebrew Union College Biblical and Archaeological School in Jerusalem to be a supervisor during the summer at the school's archeological excavations of the Biblical city of Gezer where ten Lycoming students will participate as volunteer archeologists as part of Lycoming's Near East Culture and Archeology program.

JOHN G. HOLLENBACK, chairman and associate professor of business administration, has been elected chairman of the General Committee on Academic Affairs for 1973-74. DAN D. GUSTAFSON, chairman and associate professor of English, has been elected secretary of the GCAA.

NELSON V. PHILLIPS, physical education instructor and men's tennis and soccer coach, has been promoted to assistant professor effective in September. After Nels graduated from Springfield College where he starred in three sports, he was basketball and swimming coach at Woodycrest Academy in New York City until he came to Lycoming in 1959. He also coached the basketball team between 1959 and 1962.

ROGER D. SHIPLEY, chairman and assistant professor of art, has had pieces of his sculpture accepted by the Bertha Schaefer Gallery, a major New York gallery. This spring his work was shown in the New York and Philadelphia areas.

R. SCOTT STAUFFER, instructor in business administration, discussed "Marketing Consideration Involved in Opening and Operating a Small Business" at a Lincoln University business seminar in early May.

ASSISTANT DEANS OF STUDENT SERVICES Thomas C. Devlin, Douglas J. Keiper, R. Albion Smith, and Anna D. Weitz have had their titles changed to Associate Dean of Student Services.

MORTON A. FIENEMAN, professor and chairman of physics, has received a National Science Foundation fellowship for summer of 1973 to continue a research project begun last year with Dr. David R. Miller at the University of California-San Diego. The continuing project encompasses investigating reactive collisions occurring and possible new molecules produced when beams of molecules are shot at one another. The reactions to be investigated are those which may be significant in attempting to understand the nature of the upper atmosphere and the kinds of processes occurring there.

MARLIN D. WHITAKER, a physics major at Lycoming College, has been awarded a ten-week summer appointment to conduct research at the National Bureau of Standards, Gaithersburg, Maryland. Whitaker is one of 117 students from U.S. colleges selected to participate in the 1973 undergraduate research program administered for the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of Nuclear Education and Training by Oak Ridge Associated Universities.

TRUSTEES HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

At the Lycoming College Board of Trustees meeting held April 26th, Fred A. Pennington, chairman, announced the election of G. Jackson Miller, of Altoona; Guy M. Davies, of Lancaster, and Dr. Robert G. Little '63, of Harrisburg, to fill vacancies on the board. Mr. Davies' term will expire in 1975 and the others in 1976. Dr. Little is the alumni representative.

All officers were re-elected and included Mr. Pennington, chairman; W. Gibbs Mc Kenney, Jr., vice-chairman; Paul G. Gilmore, secretary, and Kenneth E. Himes, treasurer.

Frank L. Dunham, a Wellsboro board member for 25 years, was cited for his long and dedicated service. Judge Charles F. Greevy, a member of the board for nine years, also was recognized for his service to Lycoming. The president judge of the Lycoming County courts declined reelection for another three-year term.

MAIL BAG

Editor of Lycoming College Report
Dear Mr. Laver:

It was with great interest that I received the January 1973 volume 26 no. 1 issue of the Lycoming college report, since I am a 1946 alumnus...

I found it most interesting and was delighted to see the picture of Charles H. Howe Class of '61 and the write up concerning his ministerial activities at the Trinity United Methodist Church in Odenton, Maryland, and the substitute teaching at Carroll Park Junior High School... Charles' official relationship is to the United Methodist Church also known as the Southwest Christian Parish since he is an ordained deacon and completing his lay pastors requirements for the ministry. As such he comes under our general ministerial oversight and supervision, although he is, of course, pastoring a small church in the county as you indicated.

We could say many fine things about this young man and the excellent ministry he has on these city streets and we are very proud of his presence among us. We are delighted to see him receive this recognition in his college alumni paper.

Best personal good cheer always. Many thanks for the excellent job you did in editing the Lycoming college report.

Sincerely yours,

Stanley F. Knoch, Jr.
Parish Minister
Southwest Christian Parish
Baltimore, Maryland

RICHMOND ERA COMPLETED

An era spanning approximately twenty years came to an end May 6th for the Logan Richmond family. When Dennis, the youngest of three Richmond sons received his baccalaureate degree at commencement, he became the fifth and probably the last member of his immediate family to graduate from Lycoming.

His father, who is professor of accounting at his alma mater, in 1954 began a family tradition when he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in accounting. Then came a span of fifteen years while the boys were growing up when the name of Richmond was missing from the Lycoming graduation list.

But when it again appeared in 1969, not one, but two Richmond names were listed to receive diplomas. Mrs. Richmond, a native of Italy who had interrupted her pursuit of a degree to raise a family, had returned to the classroom. She and her eldest son, Frank, became the second and third members of the family to graduate from Lycoming. Last year the distinction came to Norman. This May, Dennis ended the era.

All three of the sons have inherited the musical talents and interests of Mrs. Richmond. They are accomplished pianists and plan careers in music.

Frank continued his education at Pennsylvania State University where he received a Master of Fine Arts Degree. He is now a Ph.D. candidate at the University of Pittsburgh, on an assistantship. In addition to teaching and study, he is the official accompanist for the Affiliated Artists Programs of the University. He recently appeared as piano soloist with the Susquehanna Valley Symphony. Several weeks ago, he was guest soloist with the Washington National Symphony for its final three concerts at the John F. Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

Norman is now in the army and is serving as a pianist at West Point with the United States Military Academy Band. He had spent his senior year in Rome, Italy, studying piano at St. Cecilia Conservatory of Music and performed at various cities and towns, including the King's Palace of Caserta, in his mother's hometown.

Dennis plans to continue his education. He will begin work in September for a master's degree in performance at the University of West Virginia.

HENNINGER RECEIVES HONORS

Rich Henninger is rapidly becoming the most-honored player in the history of basketball at Lycoming. The Warriors' fine junior forward and team captain began reaping awards as a freshman starter in 1970-71 and honors have been coming his way at a steady pace since then.

Rich led the Warriors into the Middle Atlantic Conference championship playoffs this year for the first time since 1967-68 with a 7-3 record. Recognition for his brilliant play came in post-season honors that included selection to the Academic All-America, the E.C.A.C. All-East, Associated Press All-State, and All-MAC teams. He also was named to various all-opponent teams and last December was chosen to the all-star squad in the Central Bucks County Jaycee Tournament.

Being named to tournament all-star teams is nothing new for the 6-5 Warrior captain. He was selected as an all-star in the first tournament in which he participated as a freshman and has received similar recognition for superior play in all four of his subsequent tournaments. He has been cited seven times on the E.C.A.C. Weekly All-East team.

He also was All-MAC as a sophomore and has led the conference in scoring for the past two years. He has been in the Top Twenty in scoring in the nation for the last two seasons - 13th with a 26.7 average in 1971-72 and 19th with a 24.7 mark this year.

Rich rolled up 568 points last season to move him into second place in all-time Warrior scoring with a 1,631 mark. He is a solid favorite to exceed the 1,880 school career record in his final season with more than twenty games remaining to make 250 points. In 64 of 65 games he has scored in double figures, including 30 or more on 19 occasions. Rich's career average of 25.1 would indicate that the old scoring mark should fall midway through the season.

Individual performances by members of the track and golf teams and the school record-equaling won-lost mark of 9-1 by the tennis squad highlighted the Lycoming spring sports program.

Coach Nels Phillips's netters excited Warrior fans with nine consecutive wins, including eight in Middle Atlantic Conference competition. Then a head-to-head match with Upsala, also undefeated, not only dropped the Warriors from the ranks of the unbeaten but also eliminated them from the M.A.C. team championship playoffs.

Despite the loss to powerful Upsala in the final match of the season, the Warrior netters, led by senior Captain Bruce Sale, tied a school won-lost record of 9-1 established in 1961. No Warrior net team has ever gone undefeated since the sport was first introduced at Lycoming in 1954.

Top winners for the Warriors included Sale and Bill Levegood, a freshman from Jersey Shore. Sale, from Pelham, New York, was the number one player in the Warrior lineup, and Levegood held down the second spot. They also usually combined for the doubles competition. Sale was the only member of the team lost by graduation.

Individual performances helped add some lustre to the season, even though both the track and golf teams finished on the debit side of the won-lost column. The golfers of Coach Dave Bussey were 2-6, and the thin-clads coached by Seth Keller compiled a 1-7 record.

Lack of depth, particularly in the field events, was an important factor in the poor season record compiled by the track and field team. Jim Coomber, a freshman distance runner from Allendale, New Jersey, provided much of the excitement for the year with a record-shattering performance against Mansfield State College in the two-mile run and consistently winning both the mile and two-mile events in most of the meets. Jim eclipsed the two-mile school record of 10:01.5, established by Jim Burget against Bucknell in 1970, with a 9:50.1 time in a 105-40 loss to Mansfield. He also won the mile event against the Mounties to garner 10 of the Warriors' 40 points.

The top performance for the Warrior golf team came in the Middle Atlantic Conference championship event at the Hidden Springs Country Club when the golfers tied for fourth place in a field of 19. In addition to the fourth-place finish, the highest ever for the Warriors in the championship event, Randy Coher, a junior from Somerset, recorded the third best individual score, also the top performance ever for a Warrior golfer in the playoffs. Scranton University won the team championship with a score of 630. Delaware Valley was second with 634, and Susquehanna was third with 365. The fourth-place Warriors team score was 640.

CLASSEN

Edited by DALE V. BOWER '59

1973

On Saturday morning, May 5th, ten members of the Class of 1923 of Williamsport Dickinson Seminary registered in Pennington Lounge of the Academic Center for the 50th Anniversary of the Seminary. Accompanied lively conversations which covered our years of separation. After lunch at reserved tables in the college room, we attended the Annual Alumni Meeting during which we were the recipients of 50 year certificates and coats imprinted with the college seal.

At four o'clock, eight of us met in the lounge of Rich Hill (see photo elsewhere) for a brief business meeting. Ezra Parke and his wife were obliged to return to their home in Harrisburg and Amos Horlacher was chosen Chairman, Bernadine Decker the Alumni Secretary and Bill Rice, Fund Agents.

As we reminisced about our members, we attempted to update our class list in order to keep in closer touch with one another between reunion years. We agreed that the COLLEGE REPORT which comes out monthly from the Alumni Office is our interesting and valuable aid that our Secretary should be commended. We were reminded by Amos that percentage figures of the utmost importance since foundations watch that figure more closely than actual total in dollars. So, no matter how small, remember your class matter! With expressions of real joy and personal satisfaction at seeing our classmates, we bade goodnight to the Alumni Banquet which closed our day of Reunion.

Class Notes on 1923

ESTHER JOHNSON HOLMBOUGH and her husband have retired from public school work in New Jersey. Now they are in South New Jersey where Ebert is Associate Director of Admissions of Keuka College and Esther is just retired.

BILL RICE is now employed by the State Public School Building Authority in Harrisburg, in charge of contracting and bidding.

AMOS HORLACHER will retire as Emeritus professor of Biology in Dickinson College in June of this year following a long career in Education.

FRANCES ENT/ KEYTE has retired after many years in elementary teaching.

CAROLINE PRINDLE LANCOWITZ retired three years ago at principal in two elementary schools in Coventry, Rhode Island. She is now in the process of moving back to her old home in Williamsport, Massachusetts.

CLYDE SINDYER has retired from active business and spends much of his time in his vocation of playing percussion instruments in the Imperial Troupes.

JRIVA ALEXANDER GEBRIG returned to Williamsport with her husband 29 years ago. Jim passed away seven years ago while the Class was in the hospital. Major James Gehrig, Jr., was the victim of an air collision as he was piloting a C-52 to the first American bombing mission to Vietnam in 1965. Over the years, Mr. Gehrig, Jr. has been a guidance counselor at the Williamsport High School.

GEORGE O'BRIEN - "Murf" to us - has retired from his business in Newbury and is enjoying his life of ease.

EZRA PARKS reported at reunion that CHARLES SUBOCH had been entered the hospital to have a new heart pacemaker installed. We hope he is doing well.

BOB CROYLE, whose physical activity has been somewhat reduced by health problems, is now Minister of Counseling in the United Methodist Church in Bloomsburg, Pennsylvania. He still does some preaching.

TOM GALLAGHER tells us that he also has "almost retired" -- one day a week in his office in New York City. He reports that RUDY GORDON was tragically killed last fall. I know we all extend our sympathy to him and his wife.

MARY PRORST has retired from two positions she was church organist for the Presbyterian Church in Jersey Shore for 40 years and she also was Secretary in the Office of the Keystone Shortway until it was closed in December 1972 when Route 90 was completed. She is still trying to recover from 6 feet of water on the first floor of her home when "Agnus" hit us in last June. Mary and her brother lived together all their lives so when he died suddenly last October it was a shock to her.

- Bernadine Decker Nancarrow, Secretary

DAVID M. LARRABEE continues to live in Chevy Chase, Maryland, following his retirement as a mining and economic geologist, formerly with the Department of Interior and the United States Geological Survey. He is now doing volunteer work on saving part of the Potomac River from being filled in for land development. He has also prepared map showing areas most susceptible to landslides in Virginia and has been teaching English to Spanish speaking domestic and students free of charge. In 1970 he was awarded the Department of Interior's Meritorious Service Award. He has 15 professional publications and maps which have been published. Before his heart attack restricted his activity, he went deep sea fishing for several years.

1950

HAROLD R. BRONSON has been elected vice president of Region IX of the American Society of Safety Engineers. Harold is a certified safety professional, and lives in Richmond, Virginia. He is manager of the loss prevention services for Utica Mutual Insurance Company.

1951

NANCY NOAH SUBOCH has joined the sales force of Westwood Realty Company in Harrisburg. She holds a Ph.D. degree in education and is living in Pittsburgh.

1954

CHARLES O. LEACH has been named by the Clarion State College Board of Trustees as a vice president of that institution. With responsibilities increasing in the President's Office, he is just in that area.

1954

DAVID B. REAMS, pastor of Western United Methodist Church, Netscape, was the Holy Week speaker for the Kwanza Club of Houston. He has two children, John and Suzanne.

1956

NED E. WELLER, Director of the Wesley Foundation at State College, gave a series of addresses to various church and civic groups in the Williamsport area during Holy Week. He also conducted a service at the Allegheny Federal Prison Camp.

1956

ROBERT L. TOSTEVIN, president of the Allegheny Education Association, was named president-elect of the Eastern Region of the Pennsylvania State Education Association at the Eastern Region Convention at Allegheny College in New York City. Robert is a teacher, the former JOYCE A. MILLER '58 have four children and they live in Coopersburg.

1956

DONALD L. BROSST is an assistant professor of Earth Science at Lock Haven State College. He is on a sabbatical leave for the 1973-74 school year working as a geologist in the U.S. Geological Survey, Pennsylvania State University. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have three children.

1956

RUTH PERRY HODGE was one of four women recognized during the 20th Annual Women's Day Emphasis Program at Allegheny Baptist Church in New York City. Ruth is employed as a librarian at the U. S. Army War College at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, and is presently setting up a library in the State of Israel. Her recognition was under the title "Young Black Women Working in a Challenging World".

1959

JOHN JOE received the "Coach of the Year Award" for the Outstanding Coach in the Southern Ohio League in wrestling. His team finished the 1972-73 season with a tremendous record, winning everything that a team could win. The District I Suburban League Title, the District II Suburban Title, and the District I Section III Title. He ended the season with a 12-1-0 record. His only loss was a 26-23 loss to a lone league opponent. His team scored 471 points to his opponent's 174 points.

John teachers and coaches at Plymouth-Whitmarsh High School and lives in Coatsville, Pennsylvania.

BARBARA TAYLOR BEST received the master of fine arts degree in art from the Pennsylvania State University. Barbara lives in Huntington, Pennsylvania.

1961

ELI STAVISKI recently received confirmation that he passed the examination certifying him as a Diplomate of the American Board of Oral Surgery. Eli is a graduate of the Temple University School of Dentistry and served with the U.S. Air Force as chief of oral surgery at the base hospital in Pittsburgh, New York. He completed didactic training in oral surgery at New York University College of Dentistry. His hospital training was completed at the Brooklyn-Cumberland Medical Center, where he served as chief resident in oral and maxillofacial surgery. He practices in Scranton, Pennsylvania, and lives with his wife and two daughters in Clarks Summit.

1962

JUDY TRAYER JOHNS and her husband, Harry, informed us of the birth of their son, Billy born February 18, 1972. He joined his twin sister who were born in 1965. The Johns live in State College, Pennsylvania.

1963

HAROLD J. JUDIS is chairman of the Department of History at Franklin International School, West Germany. He is teaching and in the administration there. He says his lifetime stay in West Germany. CLASS OF '73 SETS PLEDGING RECORD

The highest number of pledges for the largest amount of money and the best percentage of participation - this is the proud record established by the Class of 1973 this year when they achieved the best results of the six classes which have conducted Senior Pledging Campaigns.

Forty-eight percent of the Class of 1973 signed five-year pledges to contribute $1,376.00 per year, a total of $6,860.00 over the five years from 160 participants. And many more have indicated their intention to be a part of the program but could not make pledges because of job uncertainties.

At a February meeting the class decided to follow the example of the previous five classes and solicit annual fund pledges. Joe Montemano was elected chairman and five captains were named to work with the Alumni Office in organizing the program. At the March 21st kick-off meeting twenty-two workers took pledge cards for every class member. Most were visited personally within two weeks with excellent results.

In addition to the Senior Pledging, the Class of 1973 voted that the Class Gift of approximately $750 be designated for the Alumni Fund. On its fifth reunion the Class will decide how the Class Gift will be used to help its alma mater.

All of us at Lycoming appreciate the dedication of the Class of 1973 to the College. We salute you as a group and wish each of you well in your endeavors.

President Harold H. Hutson talks with two of the newly elected Alumni Association officers, Col. Marshall Sanders '36, center, and George Nichols '59, right, vice president and president, respectively.

PRESIDENT NICHOLS APPOINTS "BLUE CHIP" COMMITTEE

At the May 4th meeting of the Alumni Association Executive Board, action was taken requesting the new president of the Alumni Association to appoint a special committee to review the purposes and objectives of the Alumni Association and to recommend any changes which should be made to its constitution and by-laws. These recommendations will be considered during this year, will be published in the Lycoming Report, and will then be prepared for action at the 1974 annual meeting of the Alumni Association. President Nichols has now appointed his committee, and when all have agreed to serve, the names will be published.

Suggestions as to how our Alumni Association can be made more effective will certainly be welcome throughout this year so that they may be incorporated into the thinking of this special committee as they meet to consider the work of the Alumni Association now and in the years ahead. Communications may be addressed to the Alumni Office, Lycoming College, Williamsport, Pa., 17701.
